SCRAP FOR VILLAGE CLERK

People's Ticket as Nominated at the Caucus, Wins Out With the Exception of Village Clerk

There was a lively scrap on for village officers at the election held on Tuesday, there being three tickets in the field. The number of votes cast was 141, while last year only 44 votes were cast. The principle contest was over the office of village clerk and L. M. Hughes defeated his opponent, W. S. Rinear, by nine majority.

There was also a lively contest on at our neighboring village of Lake Villa, where two tickets were also in evidence, the People's and Citizens' tickets, only one man winning out on the People's ticket, L. W. Rowling, for trustee.

The following is the result of the election in the various nearby villages:

BOAT FACTORY ESCAPES

Being Destroyed by Fire Tuesday Afternoon—Hard Work Saved Building

Only the hardest kind of work on the part of twenty men, employees of the McHenry boat factory, saved that factory from destruction by fire Tuesday afternoon.

The scare came about 2:00 o'clock, p.m., when John Miller and his men set fire to the dead leaves and grass on the lot just south of the factory and with a strong south wind blowing the flames spread over the entire lot with the greatest rapidity. The great danger that the factory as well as the cottages on the east side of the river were in was evident from minute the match was struck and had it not been for the good work of the twenty volunteer fire fighters who fought the flames for nearly an hour and a half, there is no telling what the result would have been.

Had the factory caught fire and been destroyed the loss would have reached at least $30,000 as at this time there are some very expensive boats under construction, over fifty launches are finished and under construction, besides thousands of dollars' worth of lumber and fittings are stored in and near the building. The probabilities are that nearby cottages would have been destroyed as the explosion of gasoline and paints at the boat factory, which would naturally have occurred, would have been responsible for the destruction of many cottages in that vicinity.

LIFE SAVING STATION FOR WAUKEGAN

Believing that the drowning of Light-house Keeper Wm. F. Raether, Jacob Jacobson and Bellinghausen this winter prove the need of protection along the north shore of Lake Michigan, Waukegan fishermen and those interested in the welfare of men employed in and about the harbor, are making plans to establish a volunteer life saving station with government co-operation at or near the Larson boat livery.

The move has been contemplated for many years, or in fact ever since the year when the Lady Elgin and the Sea Bird sank off Waukegan. It is estimated that within the last fifty years there have been over sixty bodies picked up on the beach at that port.

In many cases rescues could have been made had fishermen been equipped with the proper life boat and with the proper instructions for a move of this kind.

Those who anticipate this move will ask Uncle Sam to co-operate in the scheme and to dig his hand down into the government pocket and purchase a life boat for Waukegan.

Providing those interested are able to persuade such a move, the government will also be asked to put on salary at least one man, whose sole duty will be to patrol the beach and to notify members of the volunteer crew in case of an accident.

The idea is to have one man on duty from the first of March to the middle of October each year.

Congressman George Edmund Foss will be notified of the move and his co-operation will be sought.

Many lending merchants announce that they will lend a helping hand to those who lead the move and that their co-operation is assured was realized when one merchant offered to start a donation with a $5 bill.

MRS. GARWOOD
PASSED AWAY
TUESDAY EVENING

On Tuesday evening of this week at her home at Channel occurred the death of Mrs. Sarah Garwood, a well known and highly respected resident of this community. She had been an invalid for some time and her death was due to the general decline of advancing age. She was sixty-seven years of age and has been a resident of Channel for the past forty years.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a devoted mother, two daughters, Miss Florence Garwood, who resided with her, and Mrs. Orrin Olcott also of Channel.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the home, and the interment will be in the Antioch Hillside cemetery.

BRUTAL
REVEALEDUnknown Babe Found in Lake
at North Chicago
Last Friday

STRONG MEN WEEP AT SIGHT

Foul and Unnatural Crime is Seen in Casting Into Lake of Bit of Human Driftwood to Conceal Other Crime

The body of an unknown babe was found on the lake shore at North Chicago Friday and it is the theory of lake men that it was thrown from the south pier in Waukegan and carried down by the current in the heavy storm of last week.

The men further state that the mother is to be sought in Waukegan.

If this is the case Chief Tyrrell will go ahead with a police investigation, trying to locate a woman or girl who might be guilty of the crime of infanticide, working through neighbors of suspected parties.

The theory in full is that some Waukegan man or woman threw the corpse of the babe, after murdering it, off the south pier in Waukegan into the lake waters.

There is a strong current getting out along the harbor to the south and it reaches the shore in its force just north of the naval training station, or nearly where the babe was found. It is the idea that this current carried the babe to the point at which it was found.

Somewhere a mother's accusing conscience is stinging her as with whips as it whispers the charge of murder and somewhere a mother's heart is being torn as with the sufferings of the damned because in the morgue there lies a nameless and unknown babe done to death by its mother, it is probable.

Poor little bit of human sea drift, born but to die, its death meaning the probable concealment of an intrigue, cast up on the beach south of the North Chicago water works by the storm of last week, its tale of life has been short and violent and its own mother in all probability did not give it a square deal, a chance to fight its battles.

A coroner's jury signed papers attesting that the babe had been murdered.

At the inquest Edward E. Wells told how, walking down the beach near the North Chicago bath houses, he found the infant, without clothes horribly mangled, turning black with putrefaction, half beneath the bath house and half beneath the driftwood that had come in from the sea. It was not there Wednesday probably and certainly not there the day before, or before that. He reported his find to Edward Conrad, the deputy coroner and to the police.

The important fact established was that the child was born alive.

Where the parents are is a question. The body may have drifted for a half a hundred miles and it may have come from Waukegan.

Coroner Taylor, men on the jury, witnesses and spectators were all deeply affected by the sight of the tiny corpse, the infant being not more than a day or two old, and more than one was cutting a severe in his condemnation of the fiend or fiends who could commit this foul and unnatural crime of infanticide.

LITTLE CHILD
FROM FLAMES

One of the greatest acts of heroism ever known in Kenosha was displayed there Saturday morning when the 5 year old son of Olma Shafer saved his mother from being burned to death at great risk to his own life. The mother, while cleaning a bed with gasoline, stepped on a match and the gasoline exploded. Her clothes took fire.

The little boy heard the screams of his mother, rushed into the room and began pulling off the burning clothes. She warned him to keep away, but he did not stop until the flames around her were extinguished.

By the time the people who heard the cries from outside arrived the boy was enveloped in flames and unconscious. He was hurried to the hospital, but he was terribly burned and may die.

The mother was burned very little, and it is said had it not been for her little son she would have burned to death.

36 DRY COUNTIES IN STATE

Out of a Total of 102 Counties in the State There is but One, Monroe,
Which Remains Totally Wet

Reports that the Supreme court has already made its decision on the constitutionality of the local option law, and will hand it down at the end of its present session, have contributed the principal item of interest among the prohibitionists and their opponents since Tuesday's election.

A decision which would declare that measure unconstitutional would undo at one stroke all of the victories which have been gained by the dries in the three elections that have been held under the law—one last fall, one on April 7, and the last on Tuesday.

The matter has been pending in the Supreme court since February. The liquor interests have set great hopes on a decision which would wipe out the law, while the prohibitionists declare they are confident that the highest tribunal of the state will decide that the law is constitutional and should remain on the statute books.

A decision wiping the law off the statute books would nullify the anti-saloon victories throughout the state outside of the city of Chicago. At least 2,500,000 people now living in prohibition districts in Illinois would find themselves in saloon territory again. Thirty-six counties which have voted out the saloons completely would have to admit them, again—provided the necessary authorities could be induced to issue licenses to them. In addition to the thirty-six totally "dry" counties which would be affected there are sixteen counties which are "dry" with the exception of one township and seven that are "dry" except for two townships. Only one county—Monroe—out of the state's entire list of 102 counties is totally "wet," and therefore would not be affected by the wiping out of the law.

The case before the Supreme court grew out of the prohibition victory in the Courtville precinct of Randolph county, last November. The "drys" captured that precinct by 180 votes to 146, and John W. McBride, one of the saloon-keepers affected, was selected for the test case. He refused to close his saloon when the thirty days of grace allowed by law expired, was found guilty of selling liquor in anti-saloon territory, and was fined $50.

The case was at once appealed to the Supreme court, on the ground that the local option law was unconstitutional. It was heard at the February term. Twenty-five points against the statute were comprised in the contentions of the defendant, who was backed by the large liquor interests of the state. Among the attorneys who drew up the brief for the Supreme court in McBride's behalf, were James M. Graham, H. C. Horner, Rufus M. Potts and Alfred Adams. Church & McMurphy represented the prohibition interests.

Among the contentions of the defense was the charge that the township organization could not vote the saloons out of cities or villages within the township limits, that the title of the statute did not express its subject matter, that the law violated the inter-state commerce clause of the federal constitution, and that it was not a general law, but a local and special law, which by its enforcement and operation suspended general laws in particular localities.

A QUEER MISTAKE IN A MORTGAGE

An unusual mistake has been brought to light in connection with a mortgage filed for record in this county notwithstanding the fact that it bears the date of December 26, 1890. The mortgage was given eighteen years ago by the late Lawrence E. Lamb of Camp Lake, to Peter J. Hawkinson of Chicago, to secure a loan in the amount of $2,000. Hawkinson supposed that Camp Lake was in Lake county, Ill., filed the mortgage at Waukegan and it was recorded there, the officials never noticing that it did not cover land in the state of Illinois. After the death of Mr. Lamb a few weeks ago the error was discovered and with the consent of his heirs the mortgage has now been placed on record in Kenosha county. The error is one of the most unusual ever discovered by the county officials.

MILK TO BE SIX CENTS

Waukegan Dealers Said to Have Held
Meeting and Made Above Rate

Beginning May 1 the price of milk in Waukegan will be six cents a quart wherever it is purchased.

At a secret meeting of dealers held last week it was definitely decided that the price of milk is to be reduced for the summer.

The price may go down as far as six cents it is said and it is probable that the standard rate will be fixed at that price. Waukegan consumers have been paying eight cents a quart.

What developed at the meeting was a difficult matter to get for publication it was found as dealers were unwilling to talk and reserved their announcement for May 1, when it will be made formally.

The present rate is 8 cents at various dairies if one calls for the milk and 7½ cents a quart on the ticket basis. The fact leaked out that the standard price for the summer is to be six cents, whether purchased at the dairy or by ticket.

The part the farmers played in the new rate is not known, but the general theory is that a reduction in feed and the fine prospects for a good crop of fresh feed this year may have had something to do with it, coupled with the fact that cattle will soon be turned loose for the season.

Dealers at their meeting formulated the agreement it is said and will abide by it, so the announcement of six cent milk is fairly authoritative. Most of the dealers, when interviewed, would not admit that they had attended the meeting.

LIBERTYVILLE
DECLARED OFF

A Chicago paper says regarding the plans for racing at Libertyville trotting track.

Secretary C. R. Bentley advises me that entries to the state events of the Libertyville Great Western circuit meeting were so few that the entire program has been declared off, and also with the withdrawal of Decatur, it is just possible that other dates may be selected.

These dates they have not as yet been able to decide upon, but in any event the stake races will not be renewed, but instead regular class events, with good sized purses, will be substituted, the entries to which will not close until about ten days before the races. He also states that a meeting will be given for the 4th of July week, the classes for which will be announced shortly. This is unfortunate, as the management of the west Chicago Driving club have already decided to give a meeting that week and I am afraid one of the attractions will be shy of patrons.

$1000 For a Woman

There may be nothing new under the sun, but "When the Mummy Moves" is certainly an original title for a story. It is, of course, a story of mystery and it is so ingenious and interesting a mystery that the Chicago Record Herald, in which it appears serially, offers a first prize of $1,000 to the woman who makes the best solution, with 115 other cash prizes for women and girls who make the next best solution. The story begins in the Record-Herald Thursday, April 23, and the conditions of the contest will be found, accompanying each installment, in that paper. Those who have been unable to get the Record-Herald containing the early installments may obtain a re-print of these installments by writing to the prize, Mystery Editor, The Record Herald Chicago. While the masculine sex is not eligible in this competition it is probable that it will interest the whole family circle and there is no reason why the men should not help their wives, daughters, or friends to a successful solution.

SOLICITOUS IN THE EXTREME.

Scotch Barrister's Remarkable Care for Friend's Safety.

A wet and witty Scotch barrister one Saturday encountered an equally bacchanalian judicial friend in the course of a walk to Leith. Remembering that he had a good leg of mutton roasting for dinner, he invited his friend to accompany him home, and they accordingly dined together. After dinner was over, wine and cards commenced; and as the two friends were alike fond of each of these recreations, neither ever thought of reminding the other of the advance of time till the next day, as it happened, about a quarter before 11 o'clock. The judge then rising to depart, the host walked behind him to the outer door, with a candle in each hand, by way of showing him out. "Tak' care, my lord, tak' care," cried the kind host, most anxiously holding the candles out of the door into the sunny street, along which the people were pouring to church, "tak' care; there's twa steps."

FOSS
SENATEEvanston Man Makes This Announcement Despite Foss' Silence

HAS TAKEN NO STEP AS YET

However, it is Expected He Will Announce
His Candidacy Immediately After Adjourning of Congress in May

Many members of the Illinois delegation have concluded Representative George E. Foss of the Evanston-Lake View district soon will be an avowed candidate for the senate to succeed Albert J. Hopkins.

Mr. Foss was seen Sunday and absolutely refused to discuss the question, although he admitted that he had received a large number of letters from various parts of the state and particularly from Chicago, urging him to make the race and saying there was a good chance to step in between Mason and Hopkins.

Outside the members of the delegation who have ambitions themselves all seem to take it for granted that Foss will announce himself as a candidate for the senate before congress adjourns in the middle of next month, or immediately after that event.

The senatorial primaries will be held August 8, so that there will be nearly three months in which to conduct a campaign for the seat in the upper house in case Mr. Foss decides finally to listen to the voice of the tempters who have told him that he has a chance to win a seat in the upper house.

While it is known that a good many of these letters and telegrams have gone directly to Representative Foss, it can be ascertained on pretty good authority that he has as yet taken no step in the direction of entering into the senatorial campaign.

The naval bill has gone through the house with flying colors, and Mr. Foss, who has been hard at work upon this measure ever since congress met in December, now will have leisure, while the bill is under consideration in the senate, to take up the political situation. It is this fact which induces the people to believe that in about a month or less he may be brought around by his friends in Illinois to a point where he will consent to become an avowed candidate.

A senatorial seat is to be contested for the first time this year in a popular primary. The field is open to all, and the friends of Representative Foss out in the tenth district are becoming insistent that he should at least have a try for the honor which they believe he has fairly earned by his long service in the house.

If Mr. Foss decides to go into the contest for the senate he may stir up a lively campaign. He is in a particularly fortunate position because he has been nominated for the house and he has his district solidly behind him. No one would ask him to resign until after the result of the August primaries had been announced.

GOING BACK TO THE SIMPLE LIFE

In Star county, Texas, there is a colony of young college men who have abandoned books and professional life and returned to the soil to earn a livelihood. This colony numbers twelve or fourteen, several of whom were trained in scientific agriculture in the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas. These act as tutors to their fellows in this interesting agricultural experiment.

Splendid results have been achieved by the young men, and it is largely through their initiative and energy that the agricultural possibilities of that locality have been demonstrated. In about four years Talfurris has become a town of 4,000 people. The college men are the chief owners of the cotton gin, bank, mercantile establishment, electric light company and telephone company, and have made this new town a delightful place to live in.

They have a Glee club and Chamber of Commerce, and find time to hunt foxes, deer and quail. They have taken up the matter with their former classmates, and expect in a few years to have a college settlement of a new and original kind. One of these young men, Dashiell, by name, a relative of the tax commissioner of Texas, has been making from three to five thousand a year on sixty acres of land, which he says is very much better than working for less money in a stuffy law office in the city. This interesting colony is anxious to have college investigators of sociological tendencies look into their methods of going back to the soil.

SYNOPSIS.

SYNOPSIS.

Burton H. Barnes, a wealthy American touring Corsica, rescues the young English Lieutenant, Edward Gerard Anstruther, and his Corsican bride, Marina, daughter of the Paolis, from the murderous vendetta, understanding that his reward is to be the hand of the girl he loves, Enid Anstruther, sister of the English Lieutenant. The four fly from Ajaccio to Marseilles on board the French steamer Constantine. The vendetta pursues them, and as the quartet are about to board the train for London at Marseilles, Marina is handed a mysterious note which causes her to collapse and necessitates a postponement of the journey. Barnes goes part of the mysterious note and receives letters which inform him that he is marked by the vendetta. He employs an American detective to help him to beat the vendetta at their own game. For the purpose of securing the safety of the women, Barnes arranges to have Lady Charriv leave a secluded villa at Nice to which the party is to be taken in a yacht. Barnes and Enid make arrangements for their marriage. The net tightens about Barnes. He receives a note from La Belle Blackwood, the American adventuress. Barnes hears that Elijah Emory, his detective, has been murdered by the Corsicans. He learns that the man supposed to be Corrello, who followed the party on their way to the boat, was Sallceti, a nephew of the count, and that Count Corrello had been in Nice for some time prior to the party's arrival. The count warns Barnes not to marry Enid unless he would have her also involved in the murderous feud. Barnes and Enid are married. Soon after their wedding Barnes' bride disappears. Barnes discovers she has been kidnapped and taken to Corsica. The groom secures a fishing vessel and is about to start in pursuit of his bride's captors when he hears a scream from the villa and rushes back to hear that Anstruther's wife, Marina, is also missing. Barnes is compelled to depart for Corsica without delay, and so he leaves the search for Marina to her husband while he goes to hunt for Enid. Just before Barnes' boat lands on Corsica's shore Marina is discovered hiding in a corner of the vessel. She explains her action by saying she has come to help Barnes rescue his wife from the Corsicans. When Barnes and Marina arrive in Corsica he is given a note written by Enid informing him that the kidnapping is for the purpose of entrapping Barnes, so the vendetta may kill him. Barnes and Marina have unusual adventures in their search for Enid.

CHAPTER XII.—Continued.

They dash up the gorge for half a mile and she says sharply, "It is here," pointing to a steep ascent that, cumbered by ferns and wild flowers, makes a most unpromising roadway. Then she catches her breath and whispers: "You expect an ambush?" for the American has now his rifle on the saddle in front of him, western fashion, and his pistols ready in his belt.

"I do," answered Barnes and relates the words of the shepherd.

"Quick!" cries the girl. "This trail will take you right up Del Oro, where you can look down on Bocognano. By it you will get between your enemies and your destination."

"My destination is my wife. She is in this valley with those men."

"Oh, I think not, Sallceti is too crafty. He is still conveying Enid to Bocognano and has left only some of his followers to slay you. Come on."

Barnes follows his guide up the steep little path, that covered with vines and wild flowers is difficult to discern, but after they had gone a few hundred yards, the rocks growing larger, the trail more precipitous, Marina says: "Here we must leave our ponies and climb on foot." So they pasture the two hardy little brutes in a vale full of soft grasses and leave them munching contentedly, Barnes, slinging his haversack over his shoulder, Marina having nothing to carry with her.

Before her now strides the American, his alert eyes always glancing down the steep declivities to their left, for the almost unused trail they are following is hundreds of feet above the travelled bridge path that keeps to the torrent, dashing through the bottom of the valley. After nearly an hour of this, the noise of a waterfall strikes their ears, gradually growing louder.

Five minutes later, Barnes holds up his hand cautiously. Marina's glance follows his; far below them, concealed in the big rocks that skirt the stream at the little bridge near the waterfall, are several crouching, armed men. A little farther down the rapid, in the top of a big beech tree, is perched another, his hand shading his eyes from the rays of the declining sun that shines in his face as he looks down the pathway coming from the east.

"These gentlemen are waiting for me," remarks the American, in his face the supreme joy of a sportsman who will bag not only one head, but a battle. He puts his rifle on the ground, loosens both revolvers in his belt and asks: "The way to descend the precipice from here?"

"Why?" falters the girl.

"Why? Because I am now the hunter," answers Barnes. "Do you think I am going to spare the wretches who have stolen my wife? None of them!

Quick, the path by which I can intercept them and cut them off to the last man!"

Marina looks at his fatal pistols and shudders! "Thank God, there is no path!"

"Ah, then I will have to be content with the sentry, that fellow in the beech tree there."

"My God, if you kill any of them," gasps Marina, "you will never get Enid out of the island alive. You came to save her, not to murder her." She puts a white imploring hand on Barnes, who is already preparing his rifle. Then she suddenly half cries: "Your wife! You want her!" and points far up to the top of the pass between the two great mountains, Rotondo and Del Oro, and Barnes' eyes following her hand, he sees figures silhouetted against the clear blue Alpine air. All are mounted, and one is surely a woman.

"You think that is my wife?"

"I am sure of it. Sallceti has only left some of his men behind to waylay you if you come on unguardedly."

Barnes doesn't even answer her. His quick steps are carrying him so rapidly in pursuit along the dizzy mountain path that Marina, though the poor girl half runs, can scarce keep up with him.

Their path leads along the precipices, now and again reaching some little mountain valley through which a stream trickles between stunted pines, and about whose rocks are growing the sweet forget-me-nots and violets of Corsica.

But as they near the summit of the mountain, darkness comes also and a blinding mist, cold with the chill of melting snow, descends upon them, and enveloping them with a fleecy sheen, the rocks and lichens about the path are shrouded from their gaze.

They are above the timber line and the great bare granite blocks bruise Marina's tender feet as they stumble among them.

The girl lays her hand upon her companion's arm. "We may reach the summit before darkness," she pants, out of breath, "but the dizzy descent on the other side is impossible without daylight."

"I remember," answers Burton. "I have passed down it hunting mouflon." Then he takes off his hunting coat and places it carefully over the delicate shoulders of his fragile companion, already shivering in her light summer garment under the icy mist about her. "I am thinking of some shelter for you, for we must pass the night upon the 'mountain,' he says tenderly; then asks anxiously: "Do you know one?"

"Yes," she replies, her teeth chattering. "If we can reach it in this storm. The little chalet where poor old Tomasso sometimes took me when he brought me here as a child to pluck the flowers of the mountain."

With this she turns abruptly to the left, and Barnes following her, they struggle up a couloir filled with massive boulders, but nearing the summit the mist becomes colder, the wind sharper and the gloom more deep. Surrounded, as they are, by frightful precipices, this is appalling.

"I've lost my way," mutters Marina, her voice low with faintness, but a moment after she cries: "Ah, see the granite cliff. Follow its wall! The cabin is beneath it. But beware! beyond the cabin there is a very deep crevice."

The wind howls about them. The night is even blacker, but keeping the sheen of the cliff close at his left, Barnes stumbles over the granite blabs almost carrying the exhausted girl. Finally, compelled by the howling of the wind, he calls into her ear: "Courage! I see the hut. Thank God, someone has a fire inside it."

"Perhaps it is made by the awful bandits, the Rochini and Romano who murder so many poor travellers," shudders Marina.

But undeterred by this, using the light as a beacon, her escort rapidly approaches the open door of the little cabin, from which issues a cheerful gleam.

Suddenly they pause, for a deep tone issues threateningly from its interior: "Holla, if you are gendarmes, beware of me!"

"Madre mia," gasps Marina, with a low scream, "that voice."

"Bandit or no bandit, you shall give us warmth and shelter!" calls Barnes in answer. Then he too, stands astounded, as from the rough door strides a man, and outlined by the flickering blazes and surrounded by the mists of the mountains is a face that makes Marina tremble and shrink: "Holy Mother of God, a ghost!"

For it is the countenance of her foster father, old Tomasso Monaldi, whom everyone had thought dead from the night of her wedding.

But now the goblin recognizes her; it cries: "Marina! daughter of my heart! you have come to succor your poor old hunted down Tomasso," and sinking on his knees, it catches the half fainting girl's hand, and kisses it reverently.

"You, alive, dear old Tomasso? Impossible!" half shudders, half sobs the girl, sinking down beside the spirit and looking into his dead, dark eyes that gleam so lovingly upon her.

"Two weeks ago, on the morning of the tragedy, De Belloc's soldiers reported to that officer in my presence that they'd killed you," says Barnes impressively.

"Bah!" sneers the ghost; "the sergeant, I suppose, told his officer they shot me. The soldiers fired. It was easier for me to fall down behind a granite boulder than stand up and let them shoot again, though it was the darkness of the early morning. Then I came up on the mountain here, and fearing the soldiers would again pursue me, I have been a hermit, descending at night to the lower valleys to garner chickens and steal sheep."

"Holy smoke," grins the American, "here's the fellow for whose death they have vendettated me, alive and talking!"

CHAPTER XIII.

"Glorious Bandits."

The storm fairly howls about them, but Marina forgets it as Tomasso half sobs: "Your coming here, dear mistress, shows you forgive me for the killing of the Englishman, your husband, the one who murdered Antonio in the duel," and the flickering light revealing Barnes' face, he exclaims: "The American who saw your brother slain. Ah, now you agree with me this accused Anstruther's death was just."

"Thank God, you didn't murder him!" cries the girl. "Your stiletto entered the heart of Musso Danella, who deserved death for his lies."

"I killed poor Musso Danella," stammers the old Corsican. Then he mutters as if he can't believe: "No, no, I heard his groan as I struck through the curtains."

"'Twas the groan of Musso Danella," answers Marina. "That you killed the right man proves my husband innocent. 'Twas the hand of God directed you." The girl's voice is very reverent.

"Then if it was the hand of God, Danella's death is sure proof your husband killed not Antonio," says Tomasso solemnly, making the sign of the cross; but again breaks forth: "No, no—the proofs Musso gave to both you and me made us believe this Anstruther, your spouse, shot your brother. The things he held up to our very eyes—"

"Were the property of another English officer—one killed in action on a British warship under the Egyptian guns at Alexandria! Do you think I'd live in the arms of a man with my brother's blood upon him?" cries the young wife fervidly.

"No, that is not possible, also," agrees old Monaldi.

"But," interjects Barnes, "while you jabber here, your darling mistress dies of cold."

"Oh, my heart is warm enough with joy at seeing Tomasso live to make me forget the icy wind," and the enthusiastic girl kisses the rugged face of her old servant.

"Nevertheless, I have not forgotten supper," suggests the common-sense American, and half drags Marina into the cabin. "Eating first and affection afterward."

EFFECTS OF THE FOG.

Even Blind Men Lose Their Way—The Ground "Sounds Different."

Nothing has such a bewildering effect as fog. Only animals which find their way by scent can get about in it with any certainty, says Chum.

Birds are entirely confused by it. Game pigeons remain all day motionless and half-asleep, huddled up, either in or just outside their houses. Chickens remain motionless for hours during heavy fogs. No bird sings or utters a call, perhaps because it fears to betray its whereabouts to an unseen foe. During one very thick fog a blind man was found wandering about a certain district of London.

This man was in the habit of carrying notes and parcels, and had scarcely ever lost his way before. Asked why he had gone astray, for he was quite blind, and it was supposed that wealth would have made no difference, he said that in a fog the ground "sounded quite differently."

Duration of Animal Life.

A great variance as to length of life appears among different animals. Some insects live only for a few hours, while fish, elephants and turtles are frequently centenarians. The average life of the mosquito is three days. Toads usually live to the age of about 15 years, while carp have been known to reach a hundred and fifty. Chickens live from 12 to 15 years; dogs to the age of 10 and occasionally 15, and parrots to extreme age. These birds have been known to pass the age of 200 years. Turtles are also frequently centenarians, as are storks, and elephants are said to reach the age of 300 years.

The oldest bank in Maine is the Lincoln National, in Bath. It was started as a state bank in 1813, was incorporated as a national bank in 1864, and has conducted business for almost a century.

DRAPERY IN HOUSE

HOW BEST RESULTS MAY BE OBTAINED.

Too Many or Too Heavy Hangings Apt to Spoil the Good Effects—Good Arrangement for the Dark Room.

Too much drapery is apt to make the rooms close and stuffy, and particularly when there is not a large space and the room is not very well lighted, and one must be careful not to produce a cramped effect by shutting out the light. For a moderate-sized room with a folding door which leads into another apartment and is of course permanently closed, a good arrangement can be made without using too heavy drapery. Instead of a pair of portieres hung on a rod and falling in heavy folds, take the material and stretch it across the doors, fastening it even with the door, without the rod, more like a panel effect.

When the Material is Plain. If the material be plain and not brocade or tapestry it can be draped slightly or laid in folds like box plait and fastened in the center of the plait with a stud or brass tack. This will give the material a sufficient amount of fullness and do away with the stiffness of stretching plain material tightly over doors. If one happens to possess a mirror in a gold frame or an old colonial heirloom in wood, the effect is particularly good if the mirror is hung against this background and a divan placed beneath it with the cushions of the soft shade which corresponds with the colorings of your room, and the divan cover, either matching the drapery of the door or of a shade which is in harmony with it.

Arrangement for Dark Room. An effect of this kind seen recently in a rather dark room was excellent, but the background in this case was rather more elaborate and consisted, besides the flat piece of velvet over the door, of a top piece. This piece, which was separate, was made of a thin board of about six inches in depth, which was fastened at the top of the door and also covered with velvet, with the edge trimmed with a dull gold braid like a lambrequin, while the folds of the curtain with the brass studs in the center of the folds fell from just below this piece. The edge of the divan cover was of the same material and was trimmed with the same gold braid, and the mirror was a gilt one of a rococo design.

As the room was rather dark, the cushions selected were of the lighter shades of brocade in soft greens, yellows and old rose, and the result with the mirror reflecting the other side of the room and the dark receding background of the curtain was to make it appear much larger and more spacious, and do away entirely with the effect of a curtained doorway.

Oriental Draperies Excellent. Where one is the happy possessor of some fine tapestry or a bit of Oriental embroidery they can be used instead of the arrangement we have mentioned, and, of course, are much more beautiful. But even with tapestry, if it is not of the finest weave and design, a good effect may be obtained in this same way by putting the tapestry flat against the door and hanging a mirror on it. A divan under the mirror or a deep sofa heaped with cushions is always attractive, and very good effects may be obtained in the matter of soft pillows and couch coverings with the expenditure of comparatively little money in the way of materials, upon the covering of either sofa pillows or couch draperies, if the proper combinations of color are selected and nothing glaring or obtrusive is used.

Rice Border with Creamed Fish. Put one cupful of rice on to boil in four cupfuls of boiling water, when it has been boiling half an hour add two tablespoonsful of butter and a teaspoonful of salt. Let it simmer an hour. Wash it fine with a spoon and add two well-beaten eggs and stir for five minutes. Butter a border mold and fill with rice. Put in the oven for a few moments. Turn out on a hot dish and fill the center with creamed fish.

Chicken Dumplings. Stew chicken until tender, make gravy, before taking up, then pour all in baking pan. Make dumplings with two cupfuls flour, heaping teaspoonful baking powder, two tablespoonsful of butter, rub in thoroughly and make soft with sweet milk. Roll thin, cut in squares, put over chicken and bake in hot oven. They can be eaten cold and are always light and puffy.

Work Aprons. When I make my work aprons I have the top of the middle breadth made double for about ten inches from waist, stitching it in with the seams and belt, with the edge loose. This gives me a patch that does not show until it is needed, yet always ready when the top is worn through.—Chicago Tribune.

Cleaning Windows. A good chamolais can be bought for 25 cents, and if well taken care of will last for several years. First wash windows with a lamp sponge, then take the chamolais skin, wring as dry as possible, wipe off window and finish with an old cloth. This is the best as well as the easiest method.

Savory Hash. Roll potatoes with the skins on the day before using. When the meat is boiled save some of the stock and put in when meat and potatoes are mixed.

THE PAINTING SEASON.

Good results in painting at the least cost depend largely upon the material chosen. Paint is a simple compound and the ingredients can be easily tested. The solid part or pigment should be White Lead. The liquid part should be Linseed Oil. Those best informed on painting always buy these ingredients separately and have their painter mix them fresh for each job. Before the mixing the test is made.

Place a pea-sized bit of White Lead on a piece of charcoal or piece of wood. Blow the flame against it and see what it will do. If it is pure White Lead, little drops of bright, pure metallic lead will appear, and with patience the White Lead can be completely reduced to one globule of metallic lead. This is because pure White Lead is made from metallic lead.

You may test dozens of other so-called White Leads and not be able to reduce one of them to lead. If they will not change wholly to lead but leave a residue, it is clear that some adulterant is present.

If you should have your painting done with such materials, no matter how cheap they might seem, it would be costly in the end.

National Lead Company, Woodbridge Building, New York City, are sending on request a blowpipe free to any one about to have painting done, so that the White Lead may be tested. With it will be sent a handsomely printed booklet having as its frontispiece the "Dutch Boy Painter," reproduced from the original painting. This little painter has become noted as the guaranty of pure White Lead.

Contentment comes neither by culture nor by wishing; it is reconciliation with one's lot, growing out of an inward superiority to our surroundings.—McLean.

John D.'s Eagle Stone. John D. Rockefeller pretends that he is not and never was superstitious; still he carries in his pocket an eagle stone. It is a perforated stone of great antiquity, found in an eagle's nest, and is supposed to be a charm against disease, shipwreck and other disasters. It is of a brownish tint and about the size of a pigeon egg. When shaken it rattles as if another stone were inclosed within it. A ribbon passed through the perforation is said to possess more virtues than even John D. himself. When the old gentleman wants to confer a particular favor upon some one he gives a few inches of this ribbon.—New York Press.

TOOK TIME.

A Scotsman, having hired himself to a farmer, had a cheese set before him that he might help himself. After some time, the master said to him: "Sandy, you take a long time to breakfast."

"In truth, master," said Sandy; "a cheese o' this size is nae soon eaten as you may think."

COFFEE EYES.

It Acts Slowly But Frequently Produces Blindness.

The curious effect of slow daily poisoning and the gradual building in of disease as a result, is shown in numbers of cases where the eyes are affected by coffee.

A case in point will illustrate: A lady in Oswego, Mont., experienced a slow but sure disease settling upon her eyes in the form of increasing weakness and shooting pains with wavy, dancing lines of light, so vivid that nothing else could be seen for minutes at a time.

She says: "This gradual failure of sight alarmed me and I naturally began a very earnest quest for the cause. About this time I was told that coffee poisoning sometimes took that form, and while I didn't believe that coffee was the cause of my trouble, I concluded to quit it and see."

"I took up Postum Food Coffee in spite of the jokes of husband whose experience with one cup at a neighbor's was unsatisfactory. Well, I made Postum strictly according to directions, boiling it a little longer, because of our high altitude. The result was charming. I have now used Postum in place of coffee for about 3 months and my eyes are well, never paining me or showing any weakness. I know to a certainty that the cause of the trouble was coffee and the cure was in quitting it and building up the nervous system on Postum, for that was absolutely the only change I made in diet and I took no medicine."

"My nursing baby has been kept in a perfectly healthy state since I have used Postum."

"Mr. _____, a friend, discarded coffee and took on Postum to see if he could be rid of his dyspepsia and frequent headaches. The change produced a most remarkable improvement quickly."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

THE LIVING ROOM.

It Should at All Times Be a "Livable" Room.

What to do with the living room is a problem that confronts every housekeeper. The living room should be in fact as well as in name a living room—a livable room. It is the room in which the most of our time at home is spent, the hours we have for leisure, the time we have for play, the place where we entertain our friends and it is absolutely essential that the walls and furnishings of the living room should be harmonious in color, suitable in texture, and durable in material.

The rich, soft, solid colored walls are the ideal walls for the living rooms. They make a better background for pictures, throw the furniture out in better relief, are less discordant with rugs and carpeting, and indicate a higher degree of taste and culture than do the colored monstrosities which we paste on when we apply wall paper.

Who ever saw roses climbing up a plastered wall growing out of a hardwood floor? Yet, that is what we suggest to the imagination when we paste paper covered with roses on our walls. They are neither artistic nor true. Roses are all very beautiful, but they were never made to climb up interior walls and they do not grow from hardwood flooring. The set figures of wall paper are also tiresome and equally disagreeable and repellent.

The alabaster wall is the only correct form of a tinted or solid colored wall. Fortunately it is the only clean way, and more fortunately it is the only permanent way; the only way that does not involve the endless labor in the future.

In lighting the walls some thought must be given the color. Light colors reflect 85% of the light thrown upon them. Dark colors reflect but 15%.

Lighting bills can be saved by choosing a color which will reflect the largest degree of light. In north rooms use warm colors or colors which reflect light. In south and west rooms sometimes the light can be modified by the use of darker colors. Dark greens absorb the light; light yellows reflect it; browns modify it, and so on, through the scale of colors. The color scheme of a room not only is dependent upon the color of the carpetings but it is also dependent upon the light of the room.

THE COME AND SEE SIGN

PUBLIC INSPECTION INVITED FROM 8 A. M. TO 4 P. M. SATURDAYS EXCEPTED
LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO.

This sign is permanently attached to the front of the main building of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

What Does This Sign Mean? It means that public inspection of the Laboratory and methods of doing business is honestly desired. It means that there is nothing about the business which is not "open and above-board."

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Is it a purely vegetable compound made from roots and herbs—without drugs? Come and See.

Do the women of America continually use as much of it as we are told? Come and See.

Was there ever such a person as Lydia E. Pinkham, and is there any Mrs. Pinkham now to whom sick women are asked to write? Come and See.

Is the vast private correspondence with sick women conducted by women only, and are the letters kept strictly confidential? Come and See.

Have they really got letters from over one million, one hundred thousand women correspondents? Come and See.

Have they proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands of these women? Come and See.

This advertisement is only for doubters. The great army of women who know from their own personal experience that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female ills will still go on using and being benefited by it; but the poor doubting, suffering woman must, for her own sake, be taught confidence, for she also might just as well regain her health.

About 60 feet under the surface of the water, six miles off the coast of Florida, two Greek divers fought desperately for the possession of a big sponge. When one of them attempted to prosecute the other for injuries sustained in the fight he found that no court had jurisdiction over the bottom of the ocean.

A Queer Conveyance.
The queerest mode of travel I saw in all Mexico was that adopted by a woman who was on her way to the doctor, seated complacently in a chair borne upon the back of a man, says the Travel Magazine. Some Mexican women are afraid even of the mule cars, while they look upon the rapidly spinning trolley with such trembling of knees they will not put foot upon it.

The Philosopher of Folly.
"The wicked stand in slippery places," quoted that drivelling old dub, the Philosopher of Folly. "It's the good people who aren't wise to the game who fall when they strike such spots."

Uncle Allen.
"Some men," muttered Uncle Allen Sparks after the tiresome speaker had sat down, "remind me of an old water mill that's running with empty hoppers. Their wheels keep on going, but they don't turn out any grist."

Extraordinary Showing of the Season's Latest Spring and Summer Outfits

THE time for making the selection of your outfit is right now. The stocks are at their best and we are ready to supply you with the correct apparel as never before. The lateness of Easter gave designers the opportunity to bring out better styles and more of them. And we, too, have made the most of this additional time and have chosen the most complete stock of exclusive apparel it has ever been our pleasure to submit for your consideration. It is a season of variety and colors, yet fashion has closely defined the proper styles and to transgress in the slightest degree from these lines is to receive the frown of fashion. This is why choosing from such a carefully selected stock as ours means so much to you. It makes no difference whether the suit or costume selected as a medium priced one or an expensive creation, with each there is the assurance that the style is right.

A REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY

A. B. JOHNSON, Editor and Proprietor

By Mail, One Dollar per Year, in Advance

Telephone, Antioch No. 402.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It has been said of some senators in Washington that they "resemble Napoleon's Old Guard in that they do not die as long as they can help it, and never surrender on any terms."

And now we are informed that a syndicate is being incorporated to explore the interior of the earth, the incorporators claiming that the earth is hollow and open at the poles. It is not altogether possible that the hollowness is confined to these gentlemen's heads.

The appointment of John S. Leech to the office of Public Printer is one that will receive the approval of all who are familiar with the requirements of that office and with the career of Mr. Leech. Until his promotion, Mr. Leech was chief of the bureau of public printing in the Philippines, having been promoted to that position in May, 1901, from the Government Printing Office, where he was serving as foreman of a division. His services in the Philippines were eminently satisfactory especially so because he showed a peculiar capacity for producing creditable results with Filipino printers.

That the House of Representatives consented to increase the appropriation for the Forest Service, contained in the agricultural appropriation bill, over the amount allotted to that service for the preceding year, demonstrates an increasing appreciation of the value of scientific forestry. Of the $3,796,200 appropriated for this bureau, it is estimated that $2,000,000 will be realized in sales of timber and rentals, and the expectation is that, in course of time, the Forest Service will be wholly self-supporting. The prevention of fires, which before the establishment of the Forest patrol often caused a loss of $5,000,000 which loss during the past year has been reduced to $6,000, has alone more than paid for the entire cost of this bureau of the Federal government.

The Secretary of State and the British Ambassador have signed the general arbitration treaty with Great Britain, thus taking the second step in the programme, the ultimate end of which is the submission to the Hague Tribunal of the Newfoundland fisheries controversy. There are many indications, however, that the negotiations between the United States and Great Britain, so far as they relate to the disposition of power from Niagara Falls and related questions, have reached a deadlock which all the tact and diplomatic ability of Secretary Root and Ambassador Bryce will be unable to break. The Canadians insist upon referring these troublesome questions to a commission clothed with plenary powers and of course such an arrangement would preclude any possibility of an agreement by the United States. Apparently the Canadian authorities wish to supplant the treaty-making power of the British Foreign Office with a mixed commission, not dissimilar in character to the former Joint High Commission.

To have perfect health we must have perfect digestion, and it is very important not to permit of any delay the moment the stomach feels out of order. Take something at once that you know will promptly and unfailingly assist digestion. There is nothing better than Kodol for dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, belching of gas and nervous headache. Kodol is a natural digestant, and will digest what you eat. Sold by J. H. Swan.

"I am a Roman citizen!" was once a proud cry; "I am a citizen of the world!" should be a prouder cry, but worthless to him who has nothing to show pertaining to his citizenship, either of knowing, of being, or of doing; or of all three of these, which comprise the whole duty of man.—William Potts.

That languid, lifeless feeling that comes with spring and early summer, is quickly changed to feeling of buoyancy and energy by the judicious use of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The Restorative is a genuine tonic to tired, rundown nerves, and but a few doses is needed to satisfy the user that Dr. Shoop's Restorative is actually reaching that tired spot. The indoor life of winter nearly always leads to sluggish bowels, and to sluggish circulation in general. The customary lack of exercise and outdoor air ties up the liver, stagnates the kidneys, and oftentimes weakens the Heart's action. Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative a few weeks and all will be changed. A few days test will tell you that you are using the right remedy. You will easily and surely note the change from day to day. Sold by J. H. Swan.

There are nearly 5,000,000 subscribers' telephones in operation in the United States, or one for every 18 persons in the country.

West Point Appointees.
Appointees to West Point must be between 17 and 22, sound physically, and able to pass an examination in reading, writing, spelling, English grammar, composition and literature, arithmetic, algebra, through quadratics, plane geometry, descriptive geography and the elements of physical geography, especially of the United States; United States history, the outlines of general history and the general principles of physiology and hygiene.

Pain, anywhere, can be quickly stopped by one of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets. Pain always means congestion—unnatural blood pressure. Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets simply coax congested blood away from pain centers. These Tablets—known by druggists as Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—simply equalize the blood circulation and then pain always departs in 20 minutes. 20 Tablets 25 cents. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. for free package. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Great Men Unhappily Mated.
It is an unfortunate truth that in many cases the wives of great men have little or no sympathy with their husband's genius. Haydn's wife was a notable example, for she was a bad-tempered, extravagant woman, and her husband went to say she did not care whether he was a musician or a shoemaker!

Work Brought Author Fortune.
Macaulay's history brought the author $100,000 during its first ten weeks' sale.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupor-inducing poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—little late though—Congress says, "Put it on the label, if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! Hereafter for the very reason mentioned, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's label—and none in the medicine, else it must be law to be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding—

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.
Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and sending pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Solve Life's Problems.
To resolutely and tenderly, day after day, commend ourselves to the hand of God, to do our best, to decide as simply and sincerely as possible what our path should be, and then leave the issue humbly and quietly with God.—The Upton Letters.

Suburbs in Class by Themselves.
"It is said," observes the Philosopher of Folly, "that God made the country and man made the town. Neither God nor man appears to wish to assume responsibility for the suburbs."

A big cut or a little cut, small scratches or bruises or big ones are healed quickly by DeWitt's Carbolic Witch Hazel Salve. It is especially good for piles. Get DeWitt's. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Women Growing Younger.
No woman need now regard herself as passeé at 50. Ripened charms should be at their meridian. Society, so far from relegating her to the background, ignores the flight of years in a belle of past conquests. In the words of a competent London observer, "there has been a complete disappearance of the middle-aged woman. The social world seems now to be made up of girls, young married women and old ladies who are great-grandmothers. Every one has bright eyes, a flower face and a slender form, and every one is dressed to perfection, the same style suiting equally well the girl of 18 and her mother."

A Twenty Year Sentence.
"I have just completed a twenty year health sentence, imposed by Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which cured me of bleeding piles just twenty years ago," writes U. S. Woolver, of LeRayville, N. Y. Bucklen's Arnica Salve heals the worst sores, boils, burns, wounds and cuts in the shortest time. 25c. at J. H. Swan's drug store.

Earthworms That Plant Forests.
That earthworms as well as squirrels may aid the forester is the novel suggestion of an American naturalist. Dry maple seeds are drawn into worm burrows, where they sprout, and it is believed that some of them must survive in favorably moist seasons.

Pale, Thin, Nervous?

Then your blood must be in a very bad condition. You certainly know what to take, then take it—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. If you doubt, then consult your doctor. We know what he will say about this grand old family medicine.

This is the first question your doctor would ask: "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that daily action of the bowels is absolutely essential to recovery. Keep your liver active and your bowels regular by taking laxative doses of Ayer's Pills.

ROUT KURD RIDERS

COSSACKS WIN PITCHED BATTLE, THOUGH OUTNUMBERED.

DESTROY THREE VILLAGES

Robber Tribes in Persian Territory Severely Punished—French Repulse Fierce Attack of Berbers.

Tiflis. — The Russian troops which recently invaded Persian territory in the vicinity of Lenkoran for the purpose of punishing Kurdish raiders of the Russian garrison at the Frontier post, Belesuvur, April 13, acted with a promptitude calculated to overawe the tribes of the first class near Belesuvur.

The fight which ensued assumed the proportions of a pitched battle. The Russians were greatly outnumbered, but they pressed the battle with great vigor and routed the Persians, inflicting a loss of 34 men killed and 50 wounded. The remainder of the tribesmen broke and fled. The Russians lost one officer and seven soldiers wounded.

Cossacks Destroy Villages.

The cannonade set fire to the village of Belesuvur, the destruction of which was completed by the Cossacks after a ruthless house to house search for the Russian arms stolen during the raid of April 13.

Pressing their advantage, the Russians bombarded the neighboring villages of Kodzhahabeklu and Zariah and razed both.

The non-combatants suffered great losses.

Home of Robber Tribes.

The theater of war is in the mountain range of Karadagh, which wedges in the Russian boundary, and is the traditional kingdom of robber tribes which boast thousands of fighters armed with modern implements of war and organized with a semblance of military discipline. The robbers had cut the telegraph lines in order to hamper the mobilization of an expedition which Persia is assembling against them at Tabriz.

The Russian expeditionary force now on Persian soil aggregates 400 Cossacks, a squadron of sharpshooters and a battery of machine guns. It was intended to send a much larger force there, but a phenomenal flood of the Aras river hinders the concentration of reinforcements from Baku and other points north.

French Repulse Berbers.

Colomb Bechar, Algeria.—A French column posted on Talzaha hill, which commands the plain of Tamet, was attacked fiercely at daylight by a number of Berbers, who, with nomad Arabs, have been concentrating for some weeks past on the western frontier of Algeria.

Although surprised, the French force rallied and fought desperately, not only beating off their adversaries, but pursuing them for a distance of six miles.

So hot was the pursuit that the Arabs, in their headlong flight, abandoned their dead and wounded.

Several green flags of the prophet also fell into the hands of the French.

This French victory was costly. Twenty-eight men, including an officer, were killed and 100 men, including ten officers, were wounded.

The losses were greatest in the Foreign Legion.

The Berber losses were much heavier, no less than 125 dead bodies being found by the French troops.

The French pursuit was stopped by darkness.

ALDRICH BILL TABLED.

House Committee Votes to Lay Aside Currency Measure.

Washington.—The house committee on banking and currency Friday voted unanimously to table the Aldrich financial bill. It also was decided to give a hearing to Representative Vreeland of New York, who recently introduced a financial bill which is looked upon as a substitute for the Aldrich measure.

The discussion in committee was brief. The only point debated was as to whether or not the committee should make a formal report giving its reasons to the house for its unfavorable action, and the conclusion finally was reached that no reasons should be given. Consequently the committee's report will be a mere statement of the action of the committee.

Theater Panic Averted.

Saginaw, Mich.—The Bijou, vaudeville theater here was emptied in two minutes Friday night without a panic when the building was filled with dense smoke from the explosion of a gasoline lighting plant in an adjoining building. Flames were leaping 60 feet in the air as the audience emerged from the theater, but cool heads prevailed and the exits were kept clear.

Father and Child Drown.

Neodesha, Ark.—Al Anderson and his two-year-old child were drowned in the Fall river here Sunday afternoon. Anderson with his wife and child were in a boat above the dam when he lost control of the boat.

Dr. Simon B. Conover Dies.

Port Townsend, Wash.—Dr. Simon B. Conover, who during the administration of President Hayes was United States senator from Florida, died at the hospital here Sunday morning of old age.

MISSING CROOK ROBS BANK

ESCAPED CONVICT LOOTS BANK AT CHAUTAUQUA, KAN.

Bandits Secure $3,000 and Depart for Osage Hills with Posses in Pursuit—One Is Recognized.

Coffeyville, Kan.—Two men entered the Citizens' bank at Chautauqua, 25 miles west of Coffeyville, Friday, and after forcing Cashier C. C. Walterhouse and Del Easley, a business man, to enter the vault, locked them in, secured all the currency in sight, amounting to about $3,000, and escaped into the Osage hills across the line in Oklahoma. Four posses started in pursuit and as the roads were muddy it was believed the robbers would be captured. The robbers secured but half an hour's start.

The robbery was one of the most daring ever executed in this part of Kansas, the scene of many daring hold-ups on the part of the Dalton, Starr and other gangs of outlaws who from time to time have made their rendezvous in the mountainous country of near-by Oklahoma.

Cashier Walterhouse had scarcely opened the bank at Chautauqua in the morning and placed his currency on the counter ready for the day's business when the two robbers entered. The only other person in the place was Del Easley. The robbers, both of them well dressed, made their way leisurely to the cashier's window. One of them was a man well known about town, and when he commanded Walterhouse and Easley to throw up their hands, the latter took the matter in the light of a joke. The serious intentions of the robbers were realized a moment later, however, when they both drew revolvers, and pointing them at their victims, ordered them to get into the vault.

Without further ado Walterhouse and Easley complied. The robbers quickly slammed the door shut, and then leisurely went about their business. Cashier Walterhouse stated positively that one of the robbers was William Tenant, aged 23 years, formerly of Chautauqua, and who recently escaped from jail at Nowata, Okla., where he was being held on a charge of horse stealing. Tenant some time ago borrowed a small sum of money from the bank, and Mr. Walterhouse said that when Tenant entered the bank Friday he supposed he had come to renew the note or to take it up.

Tenant some time ago borrowed a small sum of money from the bank, and Mr. Walterhouse said that when Tenant entered the bank Friday he supposed he had come to renew the note or to take it up.

TWO KILLED AS BURGLARS

DISTRESSING TRAGEDY OCCURS IN COLUMBUS, O.

Sons of Grocer, Mistaken for Criminals, Are Shot to Death by Two Policemen.

Columbus, O. — Mistaken for burglars, John and William D. Frank, sons of R. O. Frank, an East side grocer, were shot and killed early Sunday morning by City Patrolmen Heinz and Casey. The latter has been suspended pending an investigation, but the former remains on duty.

Shortly before the shooting burglars were discovered by neighbors in the grocery of R. O. Frank, at 1221 Parsons avenue. Both the owner of the store and the police were notified about the same time of the burglary. The two young men who were later shot, another brother, Albert Frank, and William Yoerger, hastily armed themselves and ran to the grocery. Patrolmen Heinz and Casey, who were already on the scene, were watching in the shadows of the building when the party came up and each mistook the other for the burglars.

According to the statement of Yoerger, W. D. Frank, who carried a small rifle, raised it and fired four times at Patrolman Heinz, who then drew his revolver and shot and fatally wounded the young man. Patrolman Casey ordered John and Albert Frank to throw up their hands and the latter says they did so and that the shooting of John Frank was unjustifiable. Patrolman Casey declares that John didn't throw up his hands, but instead drew a revolver and had aimed it at him when he fired. Both the young men lived several hours after they were shot.

SENDS FLEET TO AWE SULTAN.

Italy to Make Naval Demonstration in Turkish Waters.

Rome.—An Italian squadron, under command of Admiral P. Grenet, has set out for the purpose of making a demonstration in Turkish waters. The squadron comprises 19 warships, carrying 7,000 men.

It has been decided, if it is deemed necessary, to occupy a small island off that coast, but it is hoped here that Turkey may see the error of her way and give full satisfaction, so that more energetic measures may be avoided.

The difficulty between the two nations arises out of the refusal of the Turkish government to permit the installation of Italian post offices in Turkish territory, while at the same time other foreign nations have established and are conducting post offices there without interference.

FUN FOR FLEET CREWS.

Men from Battleships Have Gay Day at San Diego.

San Diego, Cal. — After two days of pageantry on sea and land there was a restful lull in San Diego's celebration in honor of the American of the officers, including Rear Admiral Thomas, were entertained at a picnic some 30 miles in the country. Boat races on the bay, during the morning, a baseball game in the afternoon, free lemonade and fruit, horseback rides, trolley excursions and sight-seeing tours occupied the attention of the 2,000 sailors who came ashore on liberty.

All of the 16 vessels of the fleet at anchorage off Coronado were thrown open to visitors from ten a. m. to five p. m., and the excursion launches running out to sea had all they could do to handle the interested throngs. At night there were fireworks.

McGonigle of New York and Mrs. Mary H. Young of St. Louis are the surviving daughters. A bitter struggle in the division of the estate is expected.

WORKMEN IN FIERCE RIOT.

Foreigners Attack Americans in East St. Louis.

East St. Louis.—More than 150 workmen fought at the works of the American Aluminum works when Armenian, Greek and Turkish laborers became angry because the company, in taking back its employees, gave preference to Americans and negroes. The timekeeper's shanty at the main gate of the works was demolished and many heads were battered with sticks and stones. The plant was closed early in December. It was announced that it would reopen and that 100 of the men would be taken back. After 30 men, all native Americans, had been put to work, the foreigners charged on the gates. The Americans, greatly outnumbered, tried to fight them off, but they surged into the yard and were overrunning the works when timekeeper T. C. Sharp drew his revolver and forced them to retreat. The fight was carried to the hills surrounding the works and to the shores of Pittsburg lake to the north, and continued until the police arrived in response to a riot call and quelled the trouble.

APPLE SLUMP AN OLD RECIPE.

Dish That Figured Often on the Tables of Our Ancestors.

Apple slump is an old-fashioned dish, but none the less acceptable on account of its antiquity. Pare, core and quarter a dozen tart, juicy apples, turn over them a cupful of boiling water and set where they will begin to cook. Five minutes later add to the apples two cups of molasses and cook five or more minutes, while you prepare a very soft biscuit dough, using for a pint of flour a teaspoonful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a half teaspoonful of shortening and milk to stir to a dough that is too soft to roll. Put this over the apples, which should be tender, but not broken, cover the kettle closely and cook 25 minutes without lifting the cover. Serve with a hot sauce, made by heating to a cream a half cupful of butter and one cupful of sugar, stirring in just before using a scant cupful of boiling milk or water and seasoning to taste.

BANANA PUDDING WITH SAUCE.

Dessert Delicacy Both Appetizing and Healthful.

Soak one cup stale cake crumbs in two cups hot milk one-half hour, and rub through a sieve; then add one-half cup banana pulp, one-fourth cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one tablespoon brandy, one teaspoon vanilla and the yolks of three eggs slightly beaten. Turn into buttered molds, set molds in pan of hot water and bake until firm. Remove from oven, let stand five minutes, turn out and serve with this sauce.

Bring to the boiling point one-half cup each of milk and cream. Pour slowly on to the beaten yolks of two eggs and two tablespoonfuls sugar. Cook over hot water five minutes, add one-half teaspoon vanilla, two tablespoonfuls sherry, and pour over the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs.

China in the Dining Room.

In a tall dining room, if the plate rack is filled with bits of china, make a picturesque effect with fancy shaped jugs or any quaint-shaped pieces of pottery, placed above the doorway and stain the wood to match other woodwork of the room. This relieves the barren aspect of a room which is very high. A low room will appear neatest if these decorations follow certain lines around the wall and are not placed haphazard at any convenient place. It is feared that the dining room will soon have the aspect of the old-fashioned kitchen, where it used to be the pride of most women to have one article of every kind of tinware hung around the wall. If the china is to be hung round the wall, it is going to detract a great deal from the cozy apartment. The plate rack is pretty and the bits of china for the shelves above the door are not amiss, but use some judgment in arranging an artistic effect and not a china-shop display.

Rice Orflet.

One cupful hot cooked rice, three eggs, one tablespoonful cold water, one-fourth level teaspoonful salt, one-half level teaspoonful pepper, one level tablespoonful butter.

If left-over rice is to be used, re-beat it in a double boiler. Separate the eggs and add the water, salt and pepper to the yolks. Beat until very thick; then add the rice and mix thoroughly. Have the butter melting in the pan. Beat the whites of the eggs stiff and fold them into the mixture. Turn it into the pan and cook slowly for five minutes; then place in a moderate oven and finish cooking. When a knife run through the center comes out clean the orflet is done. Then fold it onto a hot platter, garnish with parsley and serve at once. This will serve five, and is a good luncheon or supper dish.

Soap Eyelets.

When making eyelets, hold the cloth firmly against a bar of white soap when you pierce the hole. In this way there is no danger of making the eyelet larger than you want; the edge of the cloth will be soaped, and a much smoother eyelet results. Furthermore, when the article goes to the laundry the soap helps remove the traces of stamping.

Breakfast Cakes.

Take one cup of butter, one cup of sugar, beat in two eggs, one at a time, then add one-half cup molasses, two teaspoonfuls cinnamon, one teaspoonful cloves, one cup strong, cold coffee, one teaspoonful soda mixed in one-half of the coffee and added after part of the flour is stirred in, one cup raisins rolled in flour, one cup hickory nuts, flour 3/4 cups.

Moth in the Piano.

When tiny pieces of felt are found in various parts of the piano it is evident that the tiny silver moth is at work and will in time do much damage. Camphor gum tied in cheese-cloth and suspended inside the piano will drive them out, while placing a half-cup of turpentine inside, leaving for several days, will be certain of driving out the little pests.

Pickled Lambs' Tongues.

Wash well and trim neatly 12 lamb's tongues. Boil in salted water until tender, skin and pack in glass jars while tongues are hot. Put in a very few whole allspice and cloves. Cover with hot white wine vinegar. Seal at once.

Breakfast Popcorn.

Pop several poppers full of corn. Then grind the popped corn through the coffee mill, quite fine; serve with powdered sugar and cream.

THE CALL OF THE SOIL.

DAYS OF FINANCIAL STRESS MAKE FARM LANDS LOOK RICH.

A staff contributor of a southern newspaper has taken up the question of the return to the farm of many who had forsaken it for the glitter of the city. He says: "It is a well known fact that the history of this Government shows that those men who have been most successful in life and who have left their impress upon its people and its institutions as statesmen, soldiers, financiers—have as a rule been those whose youth was spent on the farm, and it is to such as these that there comes with overmastering power THE CALL OF THE SOIL. More especially does it come with redoubled persuasiveness, greater power and sweeter pleading to the man of affairs when the clouds of financial unrest begin to darken the sky; when the cry of panic causes people to lose their wits and act like stampeded cattle; when with reason or without reason there arises before him the specter of ruin, grinning in his face and waving its gaunt arms in threatening gesticulation.

The pliable state into which some men were brought by the recent financial flurry, which happily is now passed, suggests these reflections. Some were ruined and a very few became insane because of their losses. Two or three took their own lives. It is when such times come that the statesman, the great financier, and the man of affairs becomes tired of the struggle. He lays down his pen, turns from his desk and listens to the CALL OF THE SOIL.

There are hundreds of cases throughout the United States of those who have money in the banks and are looking for investment in lands. No investment is better or safer. Take, for instance, the lands in Western Canada that can be bought at from $10 to $15 per acre which yield a revenue equal to and often greater than their original cost. Those lands make a certain investment. During the past two months large investments in these lands have been made, some intending to use the lands for farming purposes of their own. Others to resell to farmer friends. The agents of the Government of Canada located at different points throughout the United States have in their possession particular districts in which there are free homestead grants of 160 acres each accessible to railways, markets, schools, churches, &c. These are valuable lands. These agents will be pleased to give information to any desirous of securing, and will tell all about the railway rates, &c.

CURE AT CITY MISSION.

Awful Case of Scabies—Body a Mass of Sores from Scratching—Her Tortures Yield to Cuticura.

"A young woman came to our city mission in a most awful condition physically. Our doctor examined her and told us that she had scabies (the itch), incipient paresis, rheumatism, etc., brought on from exposure. Her poor body was a mass of sores from scratching and she was not able to retain solid food. We worked hard over her for seven weeks but we could see little improvement. One day I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and we bathed our patient well and gave her a full dose of the Resolvent. She slept better that night and the next day I got a box of Cuticura Ointment. In five weeks this young woman was able to look for a position, and she is now strong and well. Laura Jane Bates, 85 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y., Mar. 11, 1907."
